Hey Allison,

If the train arrives in Portland at 11:05am, then you would definitely make one of the boat trips. I highlighted the times that I am thinking for the boat schedule below. You can take the MAX from the train station to the Convention Center, which is close to the Double Tree Hotel where everyone is staying, and we will be picking people up for the boat tour at the hotel (or I can probably pick you up from the train station in the GOV).

You can also check in with Cami, Davis, and Debbie because they are probably carpooling down together and you can hop in the GOV with them on Tuesday.

Keep me posted on your arrival time in Portland and I will add your name to one of the boat trips accordingly.

Thanks,
Annie

Hi Anne –

I understand you are the organizer of the boat trips. Are you running any afternoon trips? If I get into Portland Tues am on the 11:05 train, would I be in time to do an afternoon trip?

Thanks
Allison

Hey Amy,

Thanks for gathering the head count so far. Is that list only NRRB members or does that include CSTAG members too? There may be some R10 folks that would like to join too (Eva and Debbie have not been on a site tour yet). I think we will need at least 2 boat trips to accommodate everyone, plus Brent (the boat operator) and a R10 person (Sean or Kristine) to be able to narrate. Depending on the total headcount and how crowded we want to be on the boat, we should potentially do a third trip if we make them each about 2 hours long (maybe 10-12, 12:15-2:15, 2:30-4:30?).

Brent, would we use the same boat ramp at the head of Swan Island Lagoon where we launched the boats last week? The tour could be a circle up to the St. John's Bridge, down to the Broadway Bridge, and then back to the boat ramp in Swan Island Lagoon.

Everyone will be staying at a hotel near the Convention Center (the Double Tree), so we will need to shuttle them from the hotel to the boat ramp. I have 2 GOVs reserved from OOO, so Alanna and I should be able to shuttle everyone.

Steve, please let me know if CSTAG members will also want a boat tour and add their names to the list that Amy started.

Let me know if I am forgetting any logistics.

Thanks,

Annie

Growing up with Gilligan's Island, I don't favor Kristine's 3-hour tour suggestion. ;-) Truthfully, those that are arriving on Tuesday probably can't start a tour before 2pm and it will be dark by 4:30ish.

The attached chart has what I know so far. Those arriving on Monday can take the tour on Tuesday morning. Everyone else on Tuesday afternoon. A suggestion depending on number of boats available.

When do you need the final list of participants?
